Virginia Beach City Council Amends Ordinance for Signs on Motor Vehicles

(Virginia Beach, VA) The City of Virginia Beach City Council approved an amendment to its zoning ordinances last night to clarify the criteria for signage on motor vehicles in the City. The ordinance will allow Admobile trucks to continue to operate in the City, providing the trucks comply with new use, size and permitting requirements.

The ordinance is designed to protect the aesthetic environment of the City, while allowing businesses to responsibly use vehicle signage to advertise their business. The amendment co-sponsors, Councilmen Ron Villanueva and Bill DeSteph, emphasized the importance of protecting the City while promoting small businesses.
